RIVA 92

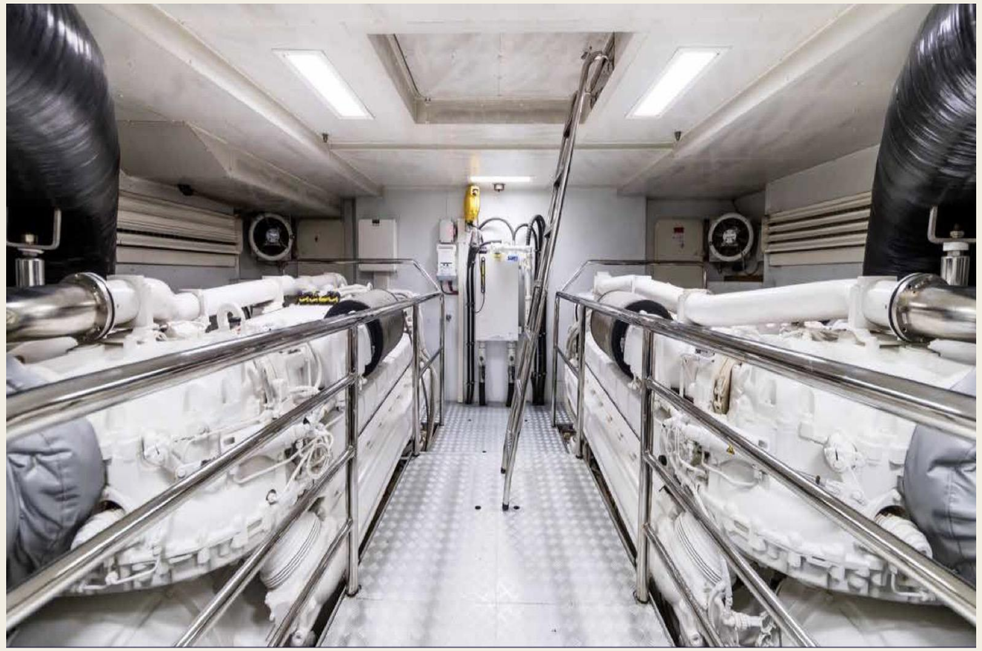

This sleek yacht is designed with elegant, slender lines that accentuate its aggressive and harmonious profile. The large, integrated windshield not only enhances the yacht's streamlined appearance but also offers exceptional visibility from the steering station. Wide windows on the upper deck flood the salon and dining areas with natural light, creating a bright, inviting space.

The master cabin, strategically located amidships, offers a sense of tranquility and privacy. It is cleverly separated from the engine room by the control area, which is accessible via the cockpit. A spacious, full-beam bathroom lies behind the bed, ensuring both comfort and convenience. The cabin's new glazing, featuring two portholes, invites an abundance of natural light and provides effective ventilation. Moreover, the master suite is accessible directly from the main deck through an independent door, further enhancing privacy and ease of access.
